College of the Sequoias
Institutional Learning Outcomes

Adopted September 2009

Quantitative Reasoning
  Apply quantitative and symbolic reasoning to obtain objective solutions to problems and equations.

Writing and Reading
  Write coherently and effectively, adjusting to a variety of audiences and purposes, while taking into account others' writings and ideas.

Creative/Analytical Thinking
  Use appropriate creative and analytic methods to interpret ideas, solve problems, and present conclusions.

Oral and Listening Skills
  Communicate effectively for a given purpose within the specific context of a communication event.

Informational Literacy
  Locate, evaluate and use information from a variety of sources to take action or make a decision.

Social Interaction
  Demonstrate effective self-management and interpersonal skills with people from a variety of backgrounds to seek consensus, resolve conflicts and take responsibility.

Health and Wellness
  Participate in active living and self-care practices that support health and wellness.

Cultural Competency
  Demonstrate awareness, respect, sensitivity and understanding needed for participating successfully in a diverse local and global society.